While the annual IKT Congress had to be postponed due to the pandemic, IKT resolved to organize a virtual gathering to connect with its members and the public at large during these challenging times. Over a period of 3 hours each day, we will hear from a diverse group of IKT members who will share their stories, experiences and best practices developed over the past few months; as well as from keynote speakers and panelists exploring sustainable practices in our collective curatorial endeavors.

The IKT 2020 Virtual Meeting is free and open to IKT members as well as to the general public, however mandatory registration is required.
